

Fraction Board Game

Review fractions with this board game. Practice describing fractions out loud in order to roll the die and move ahead. Once you've mastered the board, try creating your own game! You'll be able to match the game with any ability level. Name the Fraction is guaranteed to be more fun than flash cards!

What You Need:

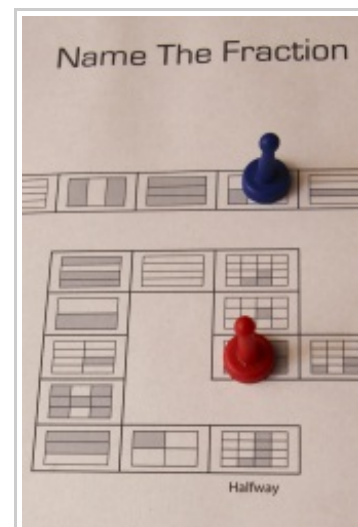

- One die (Print a template.)
- A place marker for each player (a bean, coin, etc.)
- One Name the Number playing board (Print this out.)

What You Do:

1. Players each select a place marker and put it at the starting point on the game board.
2. Players take turns rolling the die. The roll determines how many cells they may move. All players may move for "free" on their first turn.
3. Beginning in the second round, a player must say the name of the fraction shown inside their marker's space before being allowed to roll.
4. Only one marker may occupy a space. If two players land on the same space, the last one stays and the other player must return to start.
5. The first player to reach the halfway point and then return to start wins.

Variation:

Create your own game board. (Print a blank game board here.)

From Math Games & Activities with Dice

Downloaded from Education.com